DISTRICT BOY SCOUT RALLY HELD IN GRAYLING

Tuesday night, Boy Scouts, 75 strong invaded the stronghold of Troop 72 of Grayling. Atlanta, a brand new troop under the fine leadership of Rev. Engelhart, was represented by 18 clean-cut boys who will be heard from in a big way at the West Branch Rally. Troop 79 of Gaylord, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Parkes was there with about 30 well organized and trained boys. Grayling as host, also had about 30 boys on hand to welcome the visitors.

Troop Committeemen present included Mr. Pelton and Mr. Lake of Gaylord and Mr. H. Peterson, Mr. Cornell and Mr. Russell of Grayling. The Rally was in charge of Field Executive Earl Cristman.

The first event was the stretch-race which was won by Troop 79, with Troop 72 second. The square knot tying relay was won by Troop 72, with Atlanta second and Troop 79 third. Atlanta had the best time in this event but had one "granny" knot, while Troop 72 tied six perfect squares. Troop 72 had the only entry in the Fire by Friction event, and Jack Hull did his best in demonstrating the bow and tinder.

Billy Bolinger couldn't quite make his clothes behave in the Undressing and Dressing race and finished behind the Gaylord under-dresser. Alfred Hanson gave Troop 72 first place in the Bicycle Snail race. Bill Kraus and Bob Herbison were Grayling's entry in the Blindfold Boxing contest. In the Circus event Troop 79 built a human pyramid, Troop 72 a human tower and Atlanta provided the clowns.

The Hog Tie provided the final event before the Campfire and closing, during which red feather awards were given the winners of the various contests.

A District Rally is planned for each of the troops in the six counties of the Northwest District of which Grayling is a member. New troops are being organized and each Rally should be bigger and better than the preceding one.

Hunting Code For Hunters

Lansing, Oct. 13—As a guide to the quarter-million or more hunters who will be afield during the opening days of the upland shooting season in Michigan, conservation authorities here suggest a hunting code, embodying many essential points of sportsmanship.

While it is believed that the great majority of Michigan hunters try to observe both the written and unwritten laws of their sport, it is also thought that few would fail to benefit from occasional reference to the "rules" in printed form. The code follows:

Keep in mind: That hunting was once the sport of kings and princes only and regarded by them as an honorable and chivalrous pastime. That today it is the sport of the common man. Do nothing to degrade it.

Be considerate of others always.

Do not use intoxicating beverages while hunting.

Buy a hunting license and carry it at all time afield.

Keep a copy of the Michigan Game Law Digest in your hunting jacket, your car or your suit coat.

Study the game laws. Be firm in your decision to observe them.

Learn by practice to handle and shoot a gun safely—before you go hunting.

Adopt the slogan: "A gun is always loaded." Do not forget it.

Select an experienced hunting companion. Avoid the individual who is careless or dangerously excitable under fire.

Drive reasonably and safely. Respect the speed limits as you drive through towns.

Do not hunt so near towns or villages as to endanger the residents.

Understand the Horton Tresspass Law and its application in farm-gate areas.

Remember, that under provisions of the Horton Law, a farmer may have you arrested for entering his premises to hunt without permission, even though his land is neither fenced nor posted.

Always ask for the privilege of hunting on a farm. If, after investigation, it appears that no one is home, leave quietly. Do not hunt on the premises.

Be quiet. Do not sound your horn so as to attract the attention of the landowner or to annoy the occupants of his house.

If the hunting privilege is granted, inquire if there is any place where hunting might be hazardous or where property might be damaged. Avoid that place.

Be polite. Introduce yourself to the owner. Park your car out of the way in the yard.

Invite the landowner to go hunting with you.

Prevent your dog from chasing or otherwise annoying stock. Do not kill cats on a farm.

Do not fire your gun within 200 yards of a highway, farmhouse or domestic animals, especially animals in harness.

Do not climb fences. Use the gate if possible or crawl under it. Remember to close the gate.

If you have been responsible for any damage or find that damage has been caused by others, report the damage to the land holder.

Do not run when approached by a stranger. Have a clear conscience and you will have no impulse to run.

Observe and follow the spirit and letter of the law and others will respect you and enjoy your companionship.

Do not compromise others or be compromised by a violation of the law.

Remember that rowdiness and vandalism have no place in the sportsman's code.

Cooperate with the conservation officer. The conservation officer is employed to serve you and to protect your rights. The sportsman has nothing to fear from them.

Learn to distinguish readily the legal game species. Always be sure of your target before you shoot.

Be fair. If you find hunting good, remember the other man. Leave some of the game for him.

Do not forget that the law forbids the cleaning or dressing of game in the field so as to destroy identity of sex or species. Wait until you get home.

Leave a clean camp. Be careful in disposing of lighted matches and cigar or cigarette butts.

Do not post land you do not own or hold by lease.

Do not forget, discard or lose the report form attached to your hunting license. Use it to report your game kill before Feb. 15.

Here's News! State Gets a Refund

Secretary of State Leon D. Case wears a big smile as Philip T. Rich, Midland publisher, presents the State of Michigan with a check for $2,629.57, the unexpended sum from an appropriation of $10,000 given to the Michigan Press association for advertising Michigan through a four-day tour of the National Editorial association.

Lansing—Newspapers of Michigan rated the front page Friday, Oct. 8, when they presented the State government with a check for $2,629.57.

Almost in the "man-bites-dog" class of news was the announcement at a special luncheon here that the Michigan Press Association, representing 258 weekly newspapers and 27 daily newspapers, had returned to the state treasury more than 26 per cent of its original advertising appropriation of $10,000.

Editors from nearly 40 states visited Michigan last July, taking a four-day trip from Detroit to Mackinac Island. A Pontiac automobile was awarded to the editor who wrote the best newspaper story about Michigan.

In the presence of state officials including Governor Frank Murphy, a huge scrapbook of newspaper articles about Michigan was exhibited and a 35-minute motion picture of the editors' tour was shown. The check was presented to Secretary of State Leon D. Case, a member of the administrative board, by Philip T. Rich, editor of the Midland Daily News who was chairman of the publishers' convention bureau in charge of the four-day tour.

JUDGE SHAFFER SPEAKS AT KIWANIS

Circuit Judge John Shaffer was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club on Wednesday of this week. He told of the oil and gas industry in Michigan, describing various aspects of that business.

The Kiwanians were informed that the Buckeye Field in Gladwin county is the largest producing area in the state. There is a potential capacity of a hundred thousand barrels a day, although only twenty thousand are actually produced because of the pro-rate agreement of the oil companies.

The Judge told of the methods of leasing oil lands and of the sale of royalties. He stated that oil and gas do not come from pools or lakes or rivers of oil down in the ground, but are found in the sponge-like rock formations. Gas pressure forces the oil up when the drill reaches the oil sand.

The talk was informative and interesting and was enjoyed by those present.

Vice President Charles Moore was in charge of the meeting.

The Chairman spoke of the illness of the Kiwanis President, O. P. Schumann, who has not missed a meeting since the club was formed, until this week, when illness and an operation forced O. P. to be absent. The Kiwanians learned with interest of the progress of their president patient and are hoping for his early return to the Kiwanis active ranks.

Home Extension Work Begun

Leaders Meet For First Lesson

The leaders of the Home Economics Extension Project on Home Furnishings of Crawford county met Tuesday in the South Side school for their first lesson, "Making the House Home-like."

Miss Alice Hertzler, District Home Extension agent, presented the lesson, summarizing the facts that useless objects should be eliminated for ease in cleaning, to get more space, to get more restfulness, and to get more order and neatness; the 4 guides for a thing of beauty are, simplicity, usefulness, lovely color and suitability.

Leaders present representing 85 members were: Frederic, Mrs. Ace Leng and Mrs. A. Clark; Maple Forest, Miss Martha Peterson; AuSable River, Mrs. Theodore Stephan; Grayling Group I, Mrs. Hurl Deckrow; Group II, Mrs. Earl Broadbent; Group III, Mrs. W. J. Heric and Miss Odie Sheehy; Group IV, Mrs. Carl Hanson and Mrs. Menno Corwin.

The officers for the County Project this year are: chairman, Mrs. Ace Leng, and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Hurl Deckrow. Mrs. R. Richmond, Recreation Leader, was absent.

RANDOM THOTS

"Tricks or Treats" have no place until Hallowe'en.

Many families around Grayling would be in far better financial shape if it weren't for the extravagant tastes of their neighbors.

A peculiar thing about Grayling is that just enough happens every week to fill the Avalanche.

We understand that the teachers who didn't go to the Teachers Institute in Flint are holding classes in an effort to become more popular with the students.

Remember the time when more automobile drivers than pedestrians were seen under automobiles?

We heard that someone wanted to get into their high-tops and start building the slide as snow furries were seen in the air last Thursday.

Some of the sturdy old pioneers who blazed the trail, now have descendants who burn up the road.

With the old fire tower, where the curfew used to ring, out, a thing of the past, it doesn't mean that the idea of a curfew doesn't exist.

Dieting as a lot of Grayling people practice it, consists in not eating the things you haven't got.

We see the bumpy roads about town are being scraped.

With the "boss" in the hospital all our thoughts are at random.

Delegates Enjoy Kiwanis Convention

With a registration of over eight hundred delegates and guests and over 85% attendance of accredited delegates, the twentieth annual convention of the Michigan District of Kiwanis International at Battle Creek last Wednesday and Thursday, October 6th and 7th, was credited with being one of the most successful conventions of the Michigan District.

Kiwanis International was represented by Joshua L. Johns, of Algoma, Wisconsin, Past International President; also by Fred G. McAllister of London, Ontario, Trustee of Kiwanis International. Both gentlemen made addresses during the course of the convention.

The business sessions were held at the Post Tavern, convention headquarters. There is no need of going into all the routine that was necessarily gone thru, nor the various matters that were discussed, important as some of them were.

Sufficient to say that of interest to local Kiwanians was the splitting up of the present Eighth District into two districts. The new Eighth District is now comprised of Traverse City, Manistee, Cadillac, Gaylord and Grayling. The remaining towns that were in the Eighth District, Charlevoix, Petoskey, Cheboygan, Rogers City and Sault Ste. Marie, now comprise the Ninth District. These changes become effective with the beginning of 1938.

For the Eighth District, Frank J. Shipp of Gaylord was elected Lieutenant Governor for 1938; and for the Ninth District, Oscar J. North of Charlevoix shares the same honor. The Eighth District was also honored in having their past Lieutenant Governor, Gladwin H. Lewis of Traverse City, elected Governor of the Michigan District for 1938.

Ann Arbor was awarded the 1938 convention, partially as an acknowledgment of the fine work that is being done by Forney Clement, Michigan District Secretary, whose home is at Ann Arbor.

Perhaps the highlight of the convention was the address "The Prolongation of Life" by Dr. Morris Fishbein, of Chicago. What could have proven a very dry subject was made most interesting by Dr. Fishbein and he held the attention of his audience for over an hour.

The Governor's banquet was the closing feature of the convention and was held in the main dining room of the Battle Creek Sanitarium. It was unique in that all courses served were in accordance with diet regulations prescribed by the Sanitarium, also that while there was a "No Smoking" request, over seven hundred attended and very few found it necessary to leave immediately following the dinner.

The Battle Creek club and their ladies acted as combined host and entertainment committee, and much credit is due them for this feature of the convention.

There was not a dull moment for anyone and everyone agreed, as they departed for home, tired but happy, that Battle Creek had done themselves proud.

Grayling was represented by President O. P. Schumann, and Past President Emil Giegling.

Wine as Barometer

When an Austrian peasant wants to know whether he can safely undertake some field work requiring sunshine he descends into his cellar and puts his ear to the wine barrels. A change in the weather in Austria invariably is preceded by bubbles rising in the wine barrels. They produce a faint noise which one can perceive by putting an ear to the wood. To the Austrian peasant the wine is a far more reliable announcer of weather changes than the finest barometer. Some scientists believe it has to do with atmospheric electricity, especially with short waves, while others are inclined to ascribe the strange behavior of the wine to chemical influences.

IN the not-so-dim-and-distant past the mask was accepted as a symbol of evil, the hiding of the face being regarded as sufficient proof that the owner of the face was a person bent on a guilty mission.

In this scientific age, however, the mask is in more general use than at any time in history. In sport, in industry, on the stage, in medicine, aviation and the beauty parlor, the mask has its important niche. Here we present a few pictorial examples submitted by expert cameramen throughout the United States and Europe.

Once the court gallants of Elizabeth's time wore masks when they kept illicit love trysts. Statesmen, too, while engaged in intrigue, resorted to this camouflage. Today a steel worker wears a mask to protect him from the glare and super-heat of an oxy-acetylene torch.

Even animals wear masks in Europe to protect them from gas attacks in warfare. At left, a German dog with its mistress, and above, an American military horse.

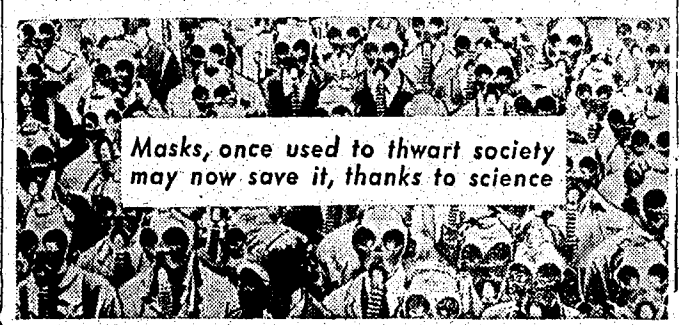

Throughout history, the mask has been the symbol of the theater. In ancient Greece, all actors wore masks. Theatrical masks of pure gold have been found in the tombs of Egypt's princesses and pharaohs. At the right is seen a Benda mask, used in the theater of the present day.

This mask is unusually mobile and, expertly used, appears extraordinarily lifelike.

Nowadays masks protect citizens from dust storms (left), guard football players against facial injuries (center) and protect surgeons and their patients from infection. Even hay fever sufferers can get almost complete relief by wearing masks which filter the irritating pollen from the air.

Masks, once used to thwart society may now save it, thanks to science

"Turbo-Fusee"

Monsieur Millet of France, the inventor of this vehicle, called it the "Turbo Fusee," but for practical purposes it is still an automobile. The strange road craft is equipped with a five-horsepower motor, which gives it a speed of 180 kilometers an hour. But the motor itself does not directly drive the car; it compresses the air which supplies the actual power. The inventor claims an increase of speed, reduction of fuel consumption and a bigger cruising radius.

Lizards, Salamanders

Lizards are reptiles, salamanders are batrachians. Lizards are near relatives of snakes, and like them are clothed in a coat of tough scales, live on land or in trees and among rocks, utter calls, and belong to warm countries. Salamanders are mainly water dwellers, are closely related to frogs, have smooth, leathery, moist skins, are voiceless, hatch their eggs under water and their young develop through a tadpole (larval) stage. They are able to exist in cooler climates than most lizards because they hibernate.

Children in Court

Judge Malcolm Hatfield

A father learned yesterday in Juvenile Court that a definite means of causing a boy to steal is to tell him anything in order to avoid allowing him the means of earning a small amount of spending money.

This particular youngster was interested in a young lady in his class in the local high school and disliked seeing other boys escort her to the soda fountain or movie. Consequently, as he was forced to work at home without an allowance he quickly took advantage of the first opportunity which first presented itself to secure money by an unscrupulous method.

VACATION days are over. Peggy Co-Ed and her thousands of counterparts the nation over have started back to the whirl of studies, sports and dates that characterizes co-education in scores of American colleges and universities. Many, as "freshies," are meeting this Great Adventure for the first time. Here the camera shows what a typical freshman co-ed found as she started the new semester at Louisiana State.

Somewhat apprehensive Peggy Co-Ed stepped off the train at Baton Rouge, wondering what college days held in store for her.

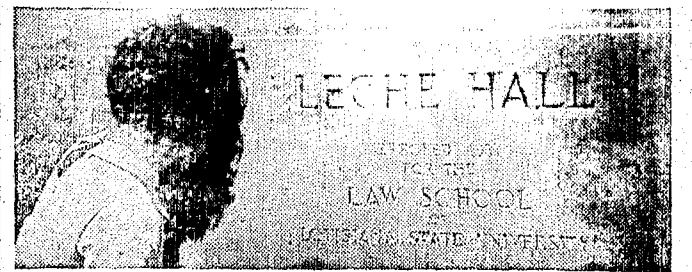

Like the average freshie, Peggy had to go through certain entrance formalities to make sure she was equipped to become one of the 7,300 students. It's not such an ordeal, however, and we see her above, receiving her card while others await their turns. This card entitles her to attend classes, but for the first few days the excitement makes it hard to get down to the grind. In music class (at right) is she absorbed in that sonata? More likely in that handsome professor!

The day's studies over, Peggy and dormitory mates primp for dates.

And at night we find her twirling about the gymnasium floor in the arms of her linen-suited date, at a student "hop." The "hop" is a social event.

Kissing the newest cornerstone upon arrival is an LSU tradition.

SCHOOL NEWS

Miss Ruth Freegard, State Director of Home Economics, from the State Department of Public Instruction was a visitor at Grayling High School this week Tuesday. She was here in pursuit of duty, inspecting the improvements made in the local Home Economics department.

The Home Economics Extension department met Tuesday morning and afternoon in the basement of the South Side school. Plans were made for sixteen and Miss Alice Hertzler was in charge.

New locks are being installed on classroom doors in the main building, replacing the old locks which were the original equipment when the building was first erected.

Mechanical drawing equipment for a full class has been added to the Manual Arts department, making it possible to do excellent work in the intricate drawing which is required.

General Mathematics is a new course which is offered for the first time in Grayling High School. It is for those who do not care to take the parallel Algebra course. There has been quite a lot of work done on the schedule so that the classes are split into sections whenever possible allowing smaller groups to do better work.

A temporary cast for the Junior play has been selected and rehearsals have started with Mr. Roberts in charge on the play "Papa and The Girls." Presentation of the play is planned for sometime in November, with the Senior play to be staged, as last year, sometime early in May. The members of the cast which is now at work includes the following: Arnold Tibbetts, Phyllis Hewitt, Kenneth Peterson, Marjorie Broadbent, Dorothy Swanson, Bonita DeLaMater, Einer Tahvonen, Bette Nellist, Patricia Montour, James Peterson, John Matthews, Katherine Carr, Helen Isenbauer.

The Economics class has had a chance to see the bottom drop out of the stock market as more than just innocent spectators. Two weeks ago each was presented with an imaginary $500 and, after studying what they wanted to buy, they invested. Tuesday they were sold out and losses resulted in practically every case. Only three members of the class of twenty-three made gains totaling $129.75, while the other twenty reported losses of $730.12 in all. Twenty-six stocks were involved in the purchases representing a great variety of industries.

A Halloween party especially for school children is being planned for Halloween Eve, Saturday night, October 30th. Something different than anything ever attempted is to be presented free to all who care to come, and announcement will be made later as to the details.

The laboratory stools have been replaced with benches which are more satisfactory, being a better height and less noisy as well. The stools have been put to use in the Manual Arts department where the boys use them for mechanical drawing. Their drawing boards go on the benches, supported at the right angle by racks which Mr. Stripe made. In this way the benches do double duty, serving the shop classes also.

Mr. Arthur Clough and Leo Lovely are doing nice work as recreation directors during the noon hour. They are paid by the recreation project which has been in operation in Grayling for some time.

The Bulletin Boards

A survey of bulletin boards in the school discloses some interesting exhibits on display, from pictures of foreign countries to information about dye products. The Kindergarten display in Miss Tapio's room was a colorful one on Halloween. Miss Kinsella's first graders are busy making a farm with accessories. The second grade bulletin board showed a collection of fruit which Miss Bant's hopefuls had created. Miss Conboy's third grade room had a display of fall leaves. Miss Wolmer's fifth and sixth grade room showed a group of health exhibits. Miss Douglas' fifth grade bulletin board carries a group of pictures in attractive color. Miss Geedey's sixth grade room was displaying a group of pictures on South America, with Bahia, Rio de Janeiro, Cuzco and Sao Paulo having the spotlight.

High School bulletin boards are more matter of fact. The big one in the hall was full of notices, with baseball and kickball schedules, scout notices, Junior play cast, and Senior candy schedules very much in evidence. There was also a "Stop, Look, and Live" notice. Miss Nichols' bulletin board had a group of pictures on Italy, another on Grand Coulee Dam, and another on health. The board in Miss Dorr's Commercial room carried the typing schedule, results of the last test and a list of exercises that certain students hadn't done. Mr. Don't's display space in the laboratory was carrying notices on care of ton and one hundred ways to tell changes in weather.

Baseball Letters Awarded

Baseball letters were awarded to the boys who took part in this sport last spring. Because the season is short and runs so close to the end of school, it is impossible to tell who would win the coveted awards. For that reason it is necessary to wait until fall to present the letters. It will be recalled that Grayling finished second in the conference, winning the right to meet Boyne City for the title and losing to the hard-hitting northerners. The awards were presented by Coach Willard Cornell to the following boys, all of whom will be able to compete again this year except three:

Edwin Chalker, Robert Hanson, Clayton Anthony, Robert Anthony, Keith Bowen, Arnold Tibbetts, Dewey Coutts, Theon Deckrow, James Peterson.

Fred Westerholm, Lewis Ruthowski, John Matthews, William Kraus, John Henry Peterson, Evert Bidvia, Junior Lovely, Edward Martin, manager.

No Loaded Shotguns Or Rifles In Auto

Loaded shotguns or rifles may not legally be kept or transported in or on an automobile under Michigan hunting laws at any time, reminds the department of conservation.

The reminder is given to all sportsmen who wish to keep within the law during the fall hunting season. It is not legal for a hunter to stand or ride on the running board of his car with a loaded shotgun or rifle. Conservation officers who found hunters breaking the law last season were forced to take them into custody.

The law states that hunting guns should be unloaded both in the magazine and in the barrel when placed or carried in or on an automobile.

TUBERCULOSIS CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE SOON

"The tuberculosis Christmas seal sale will soon be here and it is my hope that the citizens of Crawford county will respond generously," Elizabeth K. Ober, Children's Fund county nurse, wrote this week to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association at its Lansing office. "It is through the money received from these seals, that the Michigan Tuberculosis Association can send to our county twice a year the tuberculosis clinic which will give X-rays at a nominal charge or free, to those people who have been delaying through lack of finances to have this done."

Stressing the necessity for continuing a vigorous program throughout Michigan, the Association this week called early attention to the thirty-first annual Christmas seal sale. Every seal sold in Crawford county, it was pointed out, means additional funds to carry on the anti-tuberculosis work so highly acclaimed by Miss Ober. Tuberculosis clinics, the Association reminded, make possible early discovery, so vitally essential to the control of the disease.

Recent compilations of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association reveal that 124 Crawford county residents have received Christmas seal financed chest X-rays over a period of six years. Of 33 cases of tuberculosis found, 1 was the serious adult type. Had funds been sufficient, earlier examination with consequent early detection could have been provided. The 1 tuberculous person could then have had the chance to halt the onset of the White Plague, the Association reminded.

The tuberculin test, a simple injection of harmless fluid, shows whether or not the tubercle bacillus has entered the body. If it has there will be a slight skin reaction. Then the magic eye of the X-ray determines whether the lung tissue has been damaged. With the aid of these modern case-finding facilities and the enthusiastic cooperation of the public, anti-tuberculosis organizations hope to carry on an even more aggressive battle in 1938 against the disease which is still a serious menace, particularly to young people in the 15 to 45 age group, where it takes its greatest toll.

"Although much has been accomplished in tuberculosis work in Michigan, comparative studies reveal that much remains to be done," Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the Association, declared. "The need for active support of Christmas seal financed anti-tuberculosis programs cannot be over-emphasized. Modern medical weapons—the tuberculin test and the X-ray—are essential to the prevention of tuberculosis," he stated. "Local support of the Christmas seal sale makes it possible to transform into action the slogan, 'Uncover Tuberculosis with Modern Weapons.'"

MICHIGAN APPLE INSTITUTE

To the Michigan Apple Institute, Inc., a newly formed growers' organization, goes much of the credit for the federal government's recent decision to participate actively in the purchase of several hundred cars of Michigan apples on the open market. The fruit will be distributed to families on welfare.

The estimated Michigan crop of apples is 14,000,000 bushels this season compared with 6,900,000 bushels in 1936. The 1937 national crop is estimated at 205,000,000 bushels, which is 72 per cent greater than last year.

Fully one-half the apples consumed in Michigan each year are produced out of the state. Practically all these out-state apples are shipped in boxes from the Pacific Northwest carrying against them a freight tariff which alone amounts to $.90 a bushel. Michigan growers can produce and sell most apple varieties for $.90 a bushel and show profit.

Washington growers spend in the neighborhood of $250,000 annually to advertise their crop of apples.

The Great Lakes region is the last large apple producing area to organize for the promotion and sale of its apples.

The consumption of apples has decreased 24% in the past nine years while citrus fruits, with scientific promotion and advertising efforts behind them, have increased 25% in the same period. Money for the growing and transporting of citrus fruits benefits our home state no more than in the case of Northwest apples.

Passed by the 1937 legislature and signed by Gov. Murphy was a bill which provides $5,000 in state funds for advertising our Michigan crop of apples, provided that the growers will among themselves raise an equal amount of money and spend same for advertising purposes.
